Description

Chemspec Europe continues to be Europe's only dedicated fine, custom and speciality chemicals event. Total trade attendance at the 2007 show exceeded over 6,000 industry professionals, proving yet again, that for anyone in the business of fine, custom and speciality chemicals, there is no better event.

For the second year running Chemspec Europe will be fully supported by the European Fine Chemicals Group and will continue to be backed by leading industry organisations.

In just two days you'll meet buying teams from every type of industry sector, customers, distributors, end users and prospects.

90% of exhibitors attend Chemspec Europe because they want to increase their presence in the market*.

Chemspec visitors don't just come to the show to browse – they come to buy.
